What's up? What's New?

Greetings from your new newsletter editor, Jerry Gonyo! This issue will be a test for me to see if I can duplicate the great work done by Sandy Martin the past few years. Thanks Sandy!

We have other shifts in assignments. Another thanks go out to Connie Clark who has served as the Interest Group Coordinator and is now passing on the task to Susan Hiller. Susan Ashburn prepped our newsletters for mailing and now Margaret Lemon will be overseeing that responsibility. At the end of the year Don Stejskal has announced that he will pass his duties on to a new volunteer.

We thank those who have agreed to step up and help, but we still need others to fill the open spots on the board. At this time there are three: President, Vice President and Don's position as photographer and end of year documentarian. If you would be willing to volunteer, contact Ken Crawford.

As 2019 winds down with the Holiday party on December 10th we need to look forward to 2020 and how we can maintain the vitality of the organization. That's where you fit in. We need your help and support now. As you read thru this newsletter you will find a lot opportunities for fun and good fellowship. To provide everyone with the opportunity to become involved with the various interest groups, a survey form is included in this newsletter. The form was available at the Fall Kick Off as a way for everyone to sign up and be included in the various groups' communications. If you haven't already completed one, take time to sign up and especially consider suggesting groups you would like to see added and whether you would be willing to become an interest group leader. The responsibility of a group leader is basically just to relay information to it's participants.

I moved here three years ago to come back to my Midwest roots and family. I have historical connects as my son and daughter were IU grads in the 1980's. I joined the BNNC and other support groups to get in to the community groove. Speaking of which, I'm very grateful to all BNNC members that donated to my Walk to End Alzheimer's fund drive. It was an amazing success and my team Memory Marchers raised $26,163 for Alzheimer's research!

I am looking forward to being an active club and community member. If you like to contact me with your feedback and input here is how and where:
